Additional Notes:

He is a very good client looking for results. He likes to know more about the technical terms. He has an app that is in the development process to schedule rides. Moreover, the business email that he gave, he only wants to use it for commercial enquiries. And for residential or random people looking for rides he wants them to call them on the number that he gave. It's not a taxi company. He provides all types of transportations, so deal accordingly.
